WIFE MURDER ACCOMPLISHED AT LAST. JOHN CARPENTER STABS HIS WIFE AND HER SISTER

JOHN CARPENTER STABS HIS WIFE AND HER SISTER

1 IN THE STREET AND TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF.

A tall, muscular Irishman, with small, keen gray eyes, mouth like a bull dog's, square jaws clean shaven, and closely cropped hair, walked back and forth in Twenty-sixth-st., east of Third-ave., for an hour yesterday afternoon. He wore a dark brown suit and a soft black hat, but his walk and general appearance were strongly suggestive of recent prison life. His age was fifty years, but he looked younger. He was watching for some person with the air of a man who had a long time to wait. At 4 o'clock two women, plain in dress and features, whose likeness to each other showed that they were sisters, crossed Third-ave., on the south side of Twenty-sixth-st., going in the direction of Second-ave. They barely had time to step off the cross-walk when they were confronted by the watching man, whose face suddenly had taken on an expression of ferocity. He held a shoemaker's knife, with a long, sharp blade, in his uplifted hand. The women recognized him, and appeared to be helpless with fright. They clung to each other, but seemed unable to scream. The man struck them in their faces and necks with the knife, first cutting the younger woman, who was the nearest to him, and then directing his blows at the older one. Several persons saw the stabbing from a distance. After being stabbed in the face and neck, the older woman ran into the liquor store on the southeast corner, through the Third-ave, entrance. Michael Sweeney, the proprietor, was behind the bar, and Patrick McDonough, a customer, was at the doorway. McDonough let the woman pass in, but shut the door in the face of the man, who pursued her. The woman staggered to a whiskey barrel near the entrance and sat down, holding her hands to her wounded neck. Two seconds later the man who had stabbed her rushed into the store through the side entrance in Twenty-sixth-st. She saw him coming at her again and threw herself on her knees. He struck her a terrible blow in the breast, and sh IN THE STREET AND TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF, word. To make sure of his work, he bent over her bedy and sent the knife blade to the hilt in her neck.

Sweeney seized a club and ran from behind the bar, while McDehough shouted "murder." The assassin made no attempt to escape. Satisfied of the woman's death, he seemed anxious only to kill himself. He plunged the knife into his abdomen, and after he fell on the floor he repeated the blow. His strength failed him as he was trying to stab himself a third time. Several men ran into the store with the younger woman who was stabbed, and they took the knife from the murderer. The woman said he was Joha Carpenter and the dead woman was his wife. When she was led to Bellevue Hospital, and two severe wounds in her neck and head had been bandaged, she told all she knew about the murdered woman and the murderer. Surgeons dressed Carpenter's wounds and said he might recover if peritonitis did not set in. He was handenfied on his cot and a policeman was stationed at his side to watch him.

John Carpenter was a volunteer fireman and stage driver when William M. Tweed became infinential in the city. He was a Democratic ward politicuan and one of Tweed'senthusiastic admirers. His home at that time was in the Thirteenth Ward. Fourteen years ago his wife died, leaving him with three sons. Soon afterward he married Mary Ambrose, a young Irishwoman, who had not been long in the city. He drank heavily and treated her badly. On the Fourth of July following his marriage he nearly killed a negro at Delancy and Ridge sits, beating him until he was insensible. Through political influence he escaped punishment for that offence. He also obtained from Tweed an appointmentas gate keeper in Central Park. His brutality toward his wife increased to such an extent that she left him some years ago and placed her infant son in the care of a relative. She found employment for a short time as care-taker of the house No. 2 West Twenty-third-st., in which Bento such an extent that she left him some years ago and placed her infant son in the care of a relative. She found employment for a short time as care-taker of the house No. 2 West Twenty-third-st., in which Benjamin Nathan was murdered. Then she stayed a lew days with her mother at Eighth-ave, and One-hundred-and-thirtieth-st. Carpenter went to the house, broke in the door and threatened to shoot his wife. He was arrested and sent to Blackwell's Island for a month. While he was in the Penitentiary his wife obtained employment as house-keeper for Mrs. Connoily, a dressmaker in West Sixteenth-st. To evade her husband she assumed the name of Wolf, which she bore thereafter. Carpenter learned in some way, after his release, that she was employed in Sixteenth-st. and he watched Mrs. Connoily's house, it was his wife's custom to attend early mass at St. Francis Xavier's Church. One Sanday evening he followed a woman to the church and stabbed her within the portal of the building, believing that sae was his wife. The woman was Mary Lyons, a servant in a Broadway hotel. She recovered, although dangerously hart. Carpenter was arrested, convected, and sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for five years and six months. He was discharged from the prison only six weeks ago the came to the city to see his three grown-up sons, one of whom keeps a hquor store in Twenty-eighth-st., between Sixth and Seventh aves. Mrs. Carpenter meanwhile had become bonsekeeper for her brother, Thomas Ambrose, who is a widower with two children, at No. 212 East Twenty-sixth-st. Her own son, now eight years old, is in an asylum at Bayside, L. I. Delia Ambrose, her unmarried sister, employed at No. 88 East Third-st., went to No. 216 East Twenty-sixth-st. on Friday, May 16, and on aer way back she met Carpenter at Second-ave, and Twenty-fith-st. He had changed so much in appearance during his confinement in prison that she did not recognize him until he spoke.

Sie stammered a reply to the effect that she had been paying a visit to her other married siste

"You needn't lie," he said gruilly; "I know where Mary lives."

It is evident that he had nursed his wrath against his wife while he was in prison, and that he meant inschief. Delia got on a Second-ave, car to avoid him. When the car had gone a few blocks she got out and ran back by way of Third-ave to warn her sister that Carpenter was at liberty again. That evening she went to the house again, to speak with her brother Thomas. She saw Carpenter standing at the corner, watching the house. Thomas went out to ask what the man meant but Carpenter Maiked away without a word of explanation. Delia add her sister went to O'Neil's dry-good store in Sixth-ave, at 2:30 p. in, yesterday. Mrs. Carpenter bought some clothing which she intended to send to her son to-day. The sisters talked about Carpenter on the way back, through Twenty-sixth-st. Mrs. Carpenter said she had not seen her husband, and she did not think he would continue to pursue her. When they shddenly met him in front of the liquor Core, Mrs. Carpenter attered a low cry and tried to hide behind her sister.

The body of the mardered woman lay in the Morgue last night. Her husband, when a TRIBUNE reporter saw him, moved his brawny wrists uncastly in their iron shaekes, and shaid: "It would be too long a story to tell all about this trouble. There is a family quarrel, many years old, at the bottom of it. No, I was not jealous of my wife. I never was jealous of anybody. I have been in prison a long time, and haven't tasted liquor for years. I won't say any more now."

MR. HAVEMEYER'S HORSES TO BE SOLD.

Theodore A. Havemeyer, the well-known sugarreiner and a member of the Coaching Club, is to sell his entire stock of carriage horses, coaching horses, saddle horses and hunters, over twenty in all, together with about difteen horses from his Mountainside Farm at Mahwah, N. J., on June 3, at 10 a. m., in Madison Square Garden. The lot comprises some fine animals recently purchased in Canada, Maine and Kentucky. A finely mated fourin-hand team and several excellent carriage teams and single horses are in the stud. Several of the animals will be exhibited at the horse show, and the farm horses will be at the American Horse Exchange from May 30 to the day of sale. Later on the choice herd of Jersey cattle belonging to Mr. Havemeyer will be sold.

A. Havemeyer said yesterday that he had receatly determined to take his family to Europe for two years. He will sail on June 7. As the horses would have to be idle during the time he thought it best to soll them. He said that he should not sell his Mountainside Farm, which is one of the finest stock farms, with the most improved appliances and buildings, in the country. He will close his house in this cite at No. 244 Madison-ave, and rent his fine villa at Newport.

ALDERMAN M'QUADE WAS PUT OUT.

The liceuse held by Frederick May for the liquorstore at No. 155 East Fifty-seventh-st. was revoked yesterday by the Excise Board. May sold his interest in the place some time ago, and the purchaser used the license while May was employed as bartender. Recently the store passed into the possession of a new proprietor, who offered May $\frac{4}{2}$100 to surrender the license. May received a check on which payment was refused. He then declined to give up the license. When the decision of the Board was announced, Alderman Arthur J.

A NEW STEAMER FOR A CITY DEPARTMENT. A NEW STEAMER FOR A CITY DEPARTMENT.

A new steamer built for the Department of Charities and Correction was launched from the ship-yard of James D. Leary, at the foot of North Sixthst., Brooklyn, yesterday. Mayor Edson, the Commissioners of the department and other city officials were present. As the vessel slid into the water Mrs. Hess, wife of Commissioner Jacob Hess, broke a bottle of champagne over the bows and christened the craft Thomas S. Brennan. The engine for the new vessel will be furnished by the Quintard Iron Works, and will cost $50,000. The vessel will cost about $100,000. It is 210 feet long and 54 feet beam over all. It will run on the regular island

AN ANCIENT COMPANY'S NEW BUILDING.

AN ANCIENT COMPANY'S NEW BUILDING.

The president of the Eagle Fire Insurance Company, A. J. Clinton, filed plans yesterday in the Buildings Bureau for an office building at No. 71 and 73 Wall-st., at the intersection of Wall. Pearl and Beaver sts. The structure is to be eight stories high with a frontage of 70 feet and 6 inches on Wall-st., 22 feet and 6 inches on Pearl-st, and 62 feet and 6 inches on Beaver-st. It will be built of brick with Belleville stone trimmings. It will be used as an office building, the Eagle Fire Insurance Company occupying offices on the ground floor. There will be two elevators. The total cost of the building is to be $200,000, and it will be ready for occupancy about next March. G. E. Harney, of No. 149 Broadway is the architect.

The ground on which the new building is to be built was first occupied by the Eagle Fire Insurance Company in 1806. At that time their building was a modest three-story frame editice, surrounded by a rude porch, on which the easy-going burghers, who were the directors then, used to sit in their comfortable chairs in the warm, summer evenings and gravely sip their schnapps and smoke their long pipes while they talked over the business of the company. The upper part of the building was occupied by the secretary as a dwelling. As the business of the company increased they betchought themselves of building a more imposing structure, and in 1845, shortly before the great fire, the building which has just been torn down was crected. At the time of the fire the building acted as a bulwark against the flames, and it marked the limit of the destruction. It has been occupied ever since by the Eagle Fire Insurance Company, the upper part being let out for office purposes.

PAYING A FINE UNDER PROTEST.

PAYING A FINE UNDER PROTEST.

Major William Harris, formerly clerk for E. D. Carroll & Co., Wall Street grain brokers, was placed at the bar of the Special Sessions Court yesterday for trial on a charge of assault. The complainant was William J. Tewkesbury, the Chicago lawyer who attempted to take possession of the office. No. 561 Fifth-ave. on May 8 and made another effort on the following day. According to Tewkesbury's statement he was met with the caution from Major Harris: "Get out of here or I'll kill you." Harris then fell on him, threw him down, blackened his left eye, scratched his nose and kicked him. "Then," the complainant added, "he picked me up, threw me over a chair, and fell with his full weight on me while I lay prostrate on the floor."

Colonel Charles F. Reed, who defended Guiteau, was the counsel for Mr. Harris. Several witnesses were called to testify to the good character and mild disposition of both Tewkesbury and Harris and then Harris gave the following version of the quarrel:

Tewkesbury came to my office and tried to force an en trance. I ordered him to leave, saying that I was in rightful possession, and informing him that he was intruding. He paid no attention to me and I approached and attempted to shove him. He resisted and struck at me. I warded off his blow and it is possible that in doing so I scratched him. I then caught hold of his coat to eject him. While we were thus contending Mr. Marston relieved him of a parcel, and we both fell, I on top.

Justices Ford, after consulting his colleagues, Justices Smith and Kilbreth, declared the defendant gulty, and imposed a fine of $200, which was paid under protest, and notice given of an appeal to be taken from the decision.

CHARGES MADE BY ANTHONY COMSTOCK.

Anthony Constock about threeweeks ago wrote to D. J. Whitney, of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, that the Excise law was being violated on Sundays in the liquor stores of A. Niederstein, at No. 1,393 Second-ave, and of W. Becher, at No. 1,407 Second-ave, Mr. Comstock added that a correspondent had said that "the police were in with these parties and took no specific action against them." Mr. Whitney sent a copy of the statement to Superintendent Walling. The liquor dealers were arrested and Mr. Walling wrote to Mr. Comstock asking for the address of his correspondent. After a delay of several days he declined to comply with the request. The Board of Police yesterday sent a letter to Samnel Colgate, president of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, requesting him to use his influence with Mr. Comstock in order that the Board might investigate the charges, Mr. Colgate was told that "the charge was of altogether too serious a nature to be passed without a thorough investigation, and that it should either be sustained by competent proof or its falsity shown and the statement retracted."

DR. LOCKHARDT NOT DEAD.

The friends of Veterinary Surgeon Alexander Lockhardt who called at his house, No. 124 East Thirteenth-st., because of the reported finding of a man's body in Mud Creek, near Far Rockaway, L. L., in whose pocket was one of Dr. Lockhardt's cards, were agreeably surprised to find Dr. Lockhardt at home. The drowned man has been identified as Nelson Cash, a driver employed by Price & Coppins, expressmen, of No. 104 East Thirteenth-st. He had been employed by Van Tassell & Kearney, of No. 112 East Thirteenth-st., to take the horse and wagon which were found in the creek to J. D. Cheever, at Far Rockaway, to whom they belonged. It is supposed that Cash was overtaken by darkness on a strange road, and as there is no railing separating the creek from the road he must have driven too near the edge of the creek and fallen in. Van Tassell & Kearney have sent a man to take charge of the body. The horse and wagon have been delivered to Mr. Cheever, Cash was said by his employers to have been a steady, trustworthy man, in whose judgment and care they had implicit confidence. He was not a drinking man. He leaves a wife who hves in Twenty-seventh-st.

His incipient blackmatling scheme was checked, however, by calling a policeman, who found a loaded revolver in the boy's pocket. He gave the name of Clarence Egan, age sixteen, of No. 162 Wilson-st. Justice Nacher fined him $10, in default of which he went weeping to jail.

Judge Pratt yesterday vacated the stay of proceedings granted on Friday in the case of Martin D. Tyrrell, who was in the Penitentiary for keeping a disorderly house. The stay was vacated on the ground that the District Attorney's office had no notice of the proceedings. Tyrrell, who was ar-ground that the District Attorney's office had no notice of the proceedings. Tyrrell, who was arrested on a bench warrant as soon as he was released on bail on Friday and kept in custody until yesterday, was remanded to the Penitentiary. His friends are making every possible effort for his release, and had it not been for the vigilance of District Attorney Ridgway the ends of justice would have been defeated.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

MYSTERY ABOUT A STABBING CASE. MYSTERY ABOUT A STABBING CASE.

Dr. Hugh P. Roden, of No. 367 Washington-st., Newark, was called up at 3 a. m. yesterday and found two young and well-dressed men supporting a third man apparently severely injured. One of the men explained that an accident had happened to his companion. The physisian found upon examinatson that the injured man had been stabbed in several places. There was a stab in the left breast just above the heart, another on the right shoulder and one in the back of the neck. The injured man's clothing was saturated with blood. The physician dressed the wounds and noticed that the friends of hispatient evinced anxiety to get away. He was informed that the wounded man's name was Michael Quinn, that he belonged in Elizabeth and had been engaged in a fight with a man named Miller. The three men left his house promising to report the affair at Police Headquarters. This they neglected to do.

MRS. HINSDALE SECURES A DIVORCE. MRS. HINSDALE SECURES A DIVORCE.

Justice Charles F. Brown, in the Supreme Court at Long Island City, yesterday gave a decision in the celebrated Hinsdale divorce case. The principals in the suit were not present. Mr. Traule, for Mrs. Hinsdale, moved for judgment on the verdict of the jury, and demanded alimony. Mr. Baldwin, the counsel for W. R. Hinsdale, objected to the motion, and said that he desired sixty day in which to make out a case for appeal. His request was denied, and the Court handed down an order granting Mrs. William R. Hinsdale, the defendant, an absolute divorce. The Judge gave Mrs. Hinsdale $1,200 a year alimony, and $1,000 for counsel fees, and she is to have the sole custody of the children.

Coroner Mitchell, of Yonkers, held an inquest yesterday at Hastings in the case of the young woman who was found in the Hudson River. The inry decided that she had jumped or failen from a passing steamer last week. Later she was identified as Miss Arabella Hazard of Cincinnati. She formerly lived at Dobbs Ferry. A telegram was sent to the chief of police of Cincinnati asking for instructions. Friends of the dead woman started at once for Hastings.

John M. Foster was arraigned before Police Justice Stilsing yesterday on a charge of having abandoned his wife and child. The woman said that she and Foster were married in 1867. Foster admitted that he had lived with the woman since 1866 but denied that they were married. He met her in a low concert saloon in New-York where she was a waiter.

Warden Leonard, of the Essex County Lunatic Asylum, filed a Circuit Court summons against The Evening News Association yesterday in a suit for $10,000 for an alleged libelious publication.

It was estimated that nearly 15,000 persons attended the performance of Barmun's circus yesterday afternoon. The factories and mills were nearly all deserted by their employes, who crowded to the dream grands.

A fire occurred in a three-story frame tenement house in Monroc-st, early yesterday. During the excitement Mrs. Stackley, who occupies the rooms on the third floor, seized her infant and dropped it out of the window. The child fortunately fell on an awning frame, from whence it rolled into the John Kaiser, age twenty, of No. 20 Bloomfield-st., was arraigned before Recorder McDonough yesterday on a charge of assaulting his father and mother. He was fined $20, m default of which the prisoner was to be committed to the County Jail for two months. Much to the Recorder's disgust the prisoner's father offered to pay the fine. After meffectually trying to persuade the father to let his son go to jail the Recorder reduced the fine to $10, and father and son went home together. LONG ISLAND.

FLUSHING.—John F. Quarles, the well-'tnown colored lawyer, was rowing in Flushing Bay on Sunday with his wife. He caused the boat to careen and Mrs. Quarles, supposing that her husband was about to fall over beard, sprang forward to save him and upset the boat, throwing both of the occupants into the water. Mr. Quarles seized one of the piles of the dock and also grasped his wife. The nearly drowned couple were rescued after they had been in the water forty minutes.

row with a countervall or a windsail. A countervall is a piece of metal about 1 foot long and 6 Inches deep fixed to the bottom of the shell near the prow. It acts as a false keel and prevents the prow of the shell from setting to leeward. A windsail is a piece of cedur plank about 2 feet long and 8 inches deep. It is placed on the top of the shell near the prow. Some times two windsails are used—one at each end. It has the same effect as the countervail. Courtney will use the windsails as he fears the countervail may eatch sea weed and impede the progress of the boat. William Oliver, the Harlem River boatuman, has chartered a steamer which will follow the race and has made arrangements to sell pools on the result on board the boat. There is considerable quiet betting on the race. Ross is daily improving in the favor of the betting men.

was witnessed by about 1,000 spectators. The track was in fair condition, but there was a northeasterly breeze which interfered to some extent with fast riding. The starters were J. S. Prince, H. W. Higham, W. M. Woodside starters were J. S. Prince, H. W. Higham, e. W. M. Woodside side and W. J. Morgan. Prince took the lead at the start and made a fast pace, with Higham second, Woodside third and Morgan last. The first fille was made in 3:18-3. On the second mile Woodside spurted, took the lead and quickened the pace, and Morgan, who was unable apparently to keep up, abandoned the contest.

The first filve unlies were made in 16:19, without relative change of position, except that Higham spurted on the last lap of the fifth mile, and went to the front, but was unable to hold his advantage. At the end of the nine miles, which were made in 29:38, Woodside was leading with Higham second and Prince last. On the tenth mile Higham broke a spoke, and was compelled to retire, and a herce struggle for first place followed between Woodside and Prince. The latter took the lead with a brilliant spurt on the last half of the last lap, and won by about thirty feet in 32:16, Woodside one second benind. The last mile was made in 3:08.
